THOUSANDS OF IMMIGRANTS AWAIT ENTRY INTO U. S. AT MIDNIGHT

RUSSIA, POLAND AND ITALY QUOTAS FOR MONTH WILL BE FILLED DURING THE WEEK; 2,627 TO LAND TOMORROW

New York, June 30.—16 ships from foreign lands are lining up off quarantine today to rush into port at midnight tonight when the new immigration period opens.

These ships will land their first 2,627 passengers on Ellis Island before dawn Sunday and then the force of agents will undertake the work of weeding out.

Some of the quotas the officers say will be exceeded before the end of the week. Russia's allotment of 4,881 will be filled by Wednesday. Poland's 6,195 by Thursday. Italy already has more immigrants on the way than she is allowed for the entire month. It will take days to clean up the confusion. Many will have to remain in the quarters aboard the ships until the 69 inspectors at Ellis Island get a chance to handle their cases. The work will start at 7 a. m. Sunday and continue right through.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FIELD DAY
AT CURWENSVILLE JULY 19

The regular weekly meeting of the Sunday School Field Day Association was held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Curwensville Presbyterian church Sunday school room. Good progress was reported, all chairmen having their work well in hand, which promises to make this Annual Field Day Meet a great success, eclipsing 1922. If you attended last year, the first Sunday School Field Day Meet, you will wonder how this can be done, and will be planning to attend, to see and enjoy another Field Day at Irvin Park. This field day of the Sunday schools is non-sectarian and all Sunday schools of the county are invited. Show you are a Sunday school booster by talking and boosting the Sunday School Field Day, not forgetting the date, July 19th. Irvin Park on the banks of the Susquehanna, Curwensville.

Two Out Of Every
Five Homes in U. S. A.
Owned by Occupant

Madison, Wis., June 30 (United Press).—Two out of every five homes in the United States are owned by the people living therein.

Federal census figures compiled by the national institute for research in land economics and public utilities, of which Dr. Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin land economist, is director, show that home ownership increased from 38.4 per cent in 1910 to 40.9 per cent in 1920. The 1920 figure was 36.9 per cent.

Practically 3 out of every 5 owned homes are free from debt or mortgage. The figures show that of the 40.9 per cent, 24.7 are free from debt and 16.2 are encumbered.

Between 1890 and 1920 the average value of each of the 16.2 per cent—the owned mortgaged homes increased from $3,250 to $4,388. The size of the mortgage increased from $1,293 to $2,102.

This would indicate that the mortgaged home-owner is going deeper into debt than before. The mortgages on homes in 1890 averaged 39.8 per cent. of the value of the home; in 1920 it averaged 46.2 per cent.

Mortgaged for Autos

"The purchase of automobiles is said to be made in many cases out of funds raised by borrowing on security of the home," the Institute comments in a bulletin. "Certainly, many home mortgages remain unpaid because the surplus funds have gone into the purchase of automobiles."

New York City has the largest percentage of rented houses, only 12.7 per cent owning their homes. Of this 12.7 per cent, 10 per cent were in debt and only 2.7 free from debt.

Figures for other cities of more than 300,000 population were:

Chicago—73 per cent rented, 27 per cent owned (17.2 per cent are mortgaged).

Philadelphia—60.5 per cent rented 39.5 per cent owned (27.7 per cent are mortgaged.)

Detroit—61.7 per cent rented, 38.3

CIMO, MURDERER OF
SWEETHEART HERE, TO BE PARDONED

Has Served Nine Years
In Pen For Crime On Third Street In 1914
Young Woman Slain

HAD JILTED LOVER

The Board of Pardons which yesterday brought joy to the hearts of thirty-four persons serving time in Pennsylvania penitentiaries, while refusing amnesty to fifty-seven others acted on two Clearfield county cases. Philip Cimo, of Clearfield, who was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of his sweetheart on Third Street in 1914 was recommended for a pardon after nine years in the pen.

The Clearfield county application for a pardon for William and Donald Delaney, of Coalport, recently convicted and sentenced by Judge Bell for aggravated assault and battery was refused.

Philip Cimo is indeed a lucky man. The crime for which he was serving time was committed at the home of his brother, the late Frank Cimo, in the Shaver building on Third street. Philip Cimo sent to Italy for Miss Maria Bruzotti with the intention of making her his wife upon the young woman's arrival here. She was an exceptionally pretty girl of about 18 years and after coming to Clearfield Cimo gave her a couple of hundred dollars with which to buy wedding clothes and the pair were apparently as happy as could be, but after being here a few days the girl informed Cimo that she had decided not to marry him, but would return to New York City, where it was said she expected to marry a young man she had met on the journey across the ocean.

When the girl told Cimo of her change of heart, he became frantic and after attempting to have her change her mind and failing to do so, he shot and almost instantly killed her during the night of March 8th 1914.

Cimo was tried before Judge Bell, the trial starting May 7th, 1914. He was prosecuted by the then District Attorney Walter Welch, who was assisted by A. M. Liveright and W. I. Swoope, while the late A. L. Cole and W. C. Miller defended him. A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned against Cimo at 1:30 a. m. May 10th. Motion for new trial was made and refused by Judge Bell on July 23rd and the death sentence imposed on Cimo by Judge Bell on Sept. 29th.

Cimo was not thought to be very strong mentally or physically and application was made to the Board of Pardons for a commutation of sentence, which was granted by the Board, and Cimo was turned over to

MINER SUFFERS BROKEN BACK

Steve Perkowski, aged about 30 years, a miner employed in one of Burns Brothers mines at Grampian, was caught under a fall of rock while at work in the mine about 12 o'clock yesterday and had his back broken.

The seriously injured man was taken out from under the rock fall by fellow miners. After being given first aid by Dr. Miller was taken to the Pennsylvania station at Grampian by Supt. Howard Burns and brought to the Clearfield hospital on the 1:25 train yesterday afternoon. When examined by the physicians there it was found that several vertebrae were crushed and broken, but the spinal cord and nerves did not appear to be seriously injured and some hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Perkowsky is a widower, his wife having died several months ago and left him with five children to support.

It looks as though C. P. Wood, the driver, and his companion were temptingly late in making this turn at Quarter Bridge in a race on the Isle of Man. Note how the passenger throws himself across the machine to balance it as the turn is made at high speed.

OLD MAN MEASLES, CHICKEN POX AND MUMPS TAKE VACATION SO KIDS CAN HAVE A REAL FOURTH OF JULY HERE

Clearfield kids are healthy little tykes as Secretary Gaulin of the Health Board was called upon to quarantine but one case of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever during the past seven days. The quarantine was lifted in one case of measles and one of whooping cough during the same period.

There are now but seven cases of communicable diseases under quarantine in the town. They are located as follows:

- 1st Ward—Diphtheria, 1; Scarlet Fever, 2.
- 2nd Ward—Whooping Cough, 2.
- 3rd Ward—Scarlet Fever, 1.
- 4th Ward—Diphtheria, 1.

SEVERAL OF CREW
ON "WILLIAMSON"
HURT BY BLAST

Newport, R. I. June 30.—Several of the crew of the United States destroyer Williamson were reported injured in an explosion in the forward engine room in the vessel's hold shortly after noon today. Several injured were said to have been taken to the Naval Hospital.

Dr. Fred T. Kyper left today for Baltimore, where he will intern at University hospital.

Mystery 'Woman'

"Mrs. Francis Thompson," arrested in Chicago, was found to be "Fred Thompson" in disguise. He is said by police to have been identified as the "woman of the morning smile," who cold-bloodedly shot down Richard G. Tamm, as Tamm and his wife were putting their auto in the garage in the fashionable North Side district. The prisoner first was looked as a woman. At top he is shown in disguising attire.

HONORARY MEMBERS OF THE LEGION BAND
GIVEN GREAT TREAT

The American Legion Band performed right up to expectations last evening on the occasion of the Honorary Members Concert. In fact, they greatly exceeded the expectations of those who were present for the first time to hear this band in concert. The program was varied enough to suit every musical appetite from the person who knows music and attends with a most critical ear to those who want to hear old familiar strains.

The ability of the Director to take a bunch of amateur musicians and weld them into a concert band was proven beyond a doubt in the opening overture, "Der Freischütz," one of the most difficult compositions that could be selected. Entirely devoid of syncopation, jazz and march time, this overture could not possibly be played by any but symphony artists. It was produced, however, under the baton of Professor Thayer in a manner that was pleasing to all. It was followed by the titling "Brasero" by Thayer himself, an extremely popular theme. Equally pleasing was the Caprice "LaLison-pere" by Chaminade.

Edwin Howard, Piccolo soloist, performed like a veteran and finished with a storm of applause which brought an encore. Then followed John Miller, basso of Tyronce. It required two encores to appease the audience. At a latter time on the program Mr. Miller was required to sing again and again, finishing with "The Big Base Vic." Mr. Miller possesses one of the finest voices ever heard in Clearfield. Many in the audience had heard him before and when he mounted the stage a storm of applause greeted him.

"McKinley's Own," a march from the pen of Professor Thayer, started out like a hurricane, the swirl of the brass and reed sections practically carrying the hearers off their seats. As a writer of marches Professor Thayer is a second Sousa and the great band leader himself could have gotten no better performance put of the players.

DOWN EMBANKMENT

Ephraim Davies, who was employed by "Squire W. E. Kratzer on his saw mill on the old John Wrigley, now Elmer Peters farm, received a broken left arm in an accident which occurred near the home of John W. Nelson on the Clover Hill road yesterday afternoon. Mr. Davies, with his two sons, James and John and his brother, were on their way home from the saw mill in their Ford car about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At the Nelson place, the driver of the car decided to turn off into a short cut road when his car overturned off the road and went down over an embankment smashing it into junk. All the occupants of the car were scratched and bruised some, while Mr. Davies had his arm broken just below the elbow and received other painful injuries.

LINEMAN HURT WHEN POLE BREAKS

James Flanagan, aged 19 years, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Flanagan, formerly of Hilldale, but now residing near Frenchville, is a patient in the Clearfield hospital suffering from bumps and bruises received in an accident which occurred at the Clearfield Park yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Young Flanagan was one of a crew of Peas Public Linemen stringing a light line through the Park. He ascended a pole and while at work near the top the pole snapped off at the ground. He rode the pole to the ground and received a number of painful bumps and bruises when the pole hit the ground. His brother, Mike, who was also in the crew, also received some slight cuts and bruises in the accident. Young Jim was taken to the Clearfield hospital for treatment and word from the hospital at noon today is to the effect that he is coming along finely and is not badly hurt.

Lasker Denies That The Leviathan Party Made
Speeches Against J. B.

London, June 30.—Speeches attacking Great Britain in terms which were "unfit to print" were delivered by cruisers aboard the Shipping Board liner Leviathan during her trial trip, according to a dispatch to the New York correspondent of the London Daily Mail, published today. "Lasker" (then chairman of the Shipping Board) who was the official host, listened with every appearance of approval to a tirade of abuse of everything British from W. F. Gibbs, naval architect who reconducted the Leviathan, the dispatch stated. The Daily Mail quoted Gibbs as saying that he had learned "all the crooked tricks" of British steamship owners and that America was now going to sweep the British off the seas.

Chicago, June 30.—A. E. Lasker, former Chairman of the United States Shipping Board today flatly denied that W. F. Gibbs, naval architect delivered a speech abusing England. "I never heard Mr. Gibbs make any such remarks as published by the Daily Mail," Lasker said. "This whole thing is news to me."

LESSON FOR JULY 1

JOHN, THE BAPTIST

May be used with temperance applications.
LESSON TEXT—Luke 3:3-17. 7:24-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—"He shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall neither eat nor drink, nor marry, nor be married: for he will be holy, as the angels of God."
—Luke 1:15.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 3:1-17, 11:1-15; Mark 1:4-8.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Man Who Prepared the Way for Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Herald of the Christ.
COMING TOPIC—The Man Who Prepared the Way for Jesus.
Character and Work of John, the Baptist.

John was a great man. In announcing his birth the angel said, "He shall be great in the sight of the Lord." He was not only great in the Lord's sight, but was great when measured by the standards of men. In the teaching of this lesson a survey should be made of John's life and work.

I. Birth and Ministry Foretold (Matt. 3:3; cf. Isa. 40:3).

He was thought about and his work planned long before he was born. He came as God's messenger. His life was a plan of God. He was paid to be a man sent from God (John 1:3). There is a sense in which every life is planned—everyone is sent from God. Everyone should remember that God has something to do with his life.

II. His Character.

1. Humble (Luke 3:4). He did not seek human praise and commendation. His supreme concern was to proclaim the Christ. He did not make himself prominent—was only a voice calling upon people to prepare for the Messiah. His person and habits were a protest against the luxury and hypocritical formality of his time.

2. Courageous (Luke 3:7). He faced a great multitude and struck hard at their sins. He did not trim his message to suit the crowd. He even denounced the religious leaders of his time and commanded of them fruits worthy of repentance.

III. His Preaching (Luke 3:8-9).

1. Demanded Repentance (vv. 3-6). Suddenly emerging from his seclusion, he came into the region of the Jordan as a messenger of God, calling upon the people to repent in preparation for the coming of the Messiah.
2. Demanded Proofs of Penitence (vv. 7, 8). He insisted that their false religions be abandoned—their sinful hearts renovated—showed them that the vile passions of their souls must be uprooted. A change of mind, that is, the turning of the soul from sin to God, was necessary. This is a preparation which must be made before one can see and experience the salvation of God.

IV. Jesus' Testimony to John (Luke 7:24-35).

Because John did not see the interval between the "sufferings of Christ" and the "glory that should follow" he was perplexed. Therefore he sent a deputation to Jesus for light. The prophet did not see, or at least did not make clear, the interval between the crucifixion of Christ and His second coming. The two events were so presented as to appear to be in close succession. John in his preaching has stressed the mighty judgments which should take place at the appearance of the Messiah. The turn things were taking (he himself being imprisoned with the gloomy prospect of death), was in great contrast to the coming of the Messiah in fiery judgment—"the ax is laid to the root of the tree" and "the chaff is burned up with unquenchable fire" (Matt. 3:10, 12). The trend of events puzzled him. It was not lack of faith, but confusion of mind that prompted his inquiry. Christ's testimony defended him against any such accusation. Christ vindicated him against a vacillating mind because of the storms of persecution. He was not like a reed shaken by the wind (v. 24). He had lived a life of self-denial, therefore he did not deny his faith in Christ because of the dangers (v. 25). Jesus declared that no greater prophet had arisen. That which perplexed John was the delay in judgment—the day of God's patience while gathering out the Church. This was a truth not disclosed to the prophets—that which Paul made known—because a special revelation had been granted (Eph. 3:3).

V. The Martyrdom of John (Mark 6:14-29).

While John was in prison Herod had frequent interviews with him. John

THE WAY WE REPAIR WATCHES IS MAKING US MIGHTY BUSY

We repair watches and clocks in a way that brings us more work than we can really handle simply because the folks whose timepieces we repair tell their friends "I got my work done at O'Brien's and they certainly do it well."

That, folks, is the best advertisement that we could get at any price and is what is making this the busiest watch repair shop in town.

COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Day

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time, and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to get better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it."—Mrs. M. O'Brien, 3640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE DOBYNS SHOWS

The Geo. L. Dobyns Shows, which have been engaged to furnish the attractions for the John Lewis Shade Post No. 6 American Legion third annual celebration, will arrive Sunday afternoon over the Pennsylvania railroad from Pittsburgh, where it has been playing 15 days for Troop 18 Boy Scouts, of the East End Christian church.

The Dobyns Shows are made up of shows of the best of talent, consisting of a circus side show featuring Minnie Ha Ha. Minnie has traveled all over this country playing just the largest of cities. She is well worth the admission herself but there are ten shows in this side show.

Then there are the Metropolitan Minstrels with their funny dorkies singing, dancing and funny jokes which make the old laugh the same as the young.

Lloyds House of Wonders with Maxina the living half lady and a dozen illusions which sure do deceive the eye.

Tanania, the show which has all of Coney Island talking.

Princes Conetta, the smallest living lady of the day, who is considered the most perfectly formed, midjet, traveling with a show.

Then there is the Strangest Girl Alive, who has been brought to this country to be educated so she may be able to return to Southern Africa to teach her own tribes fight from wrong. The girl is what is known as a snake worshipper. She prays to the snakes which are of the worst we have in the states, but at no time does she even fear them. At night she sleeps with them covering her entire head and body.

Busy City which is a small working model of a city, each and every person working just as you see on your streets every day.

Weavers Horse Show, which is made up of horses, dogs and ponies. A show which always pleases the men, women and children.

The last but not least is the Congress of Athletics, which consists of the best boxers and wrestlers there are traveling with any show.

Mr. Dobyns has personally invited every newsboy to be his guest Monday night. He takes great pleasure in seeing that each and every one of the unhave a good time with him. He always wants them not only to see the shows but to take a ride on every one of his seven rides which are the ship, with its tubs of fun; the ferris wheel, which takes you up ever so high; the sea plane, which gives you a sensation just the same as being up with a flying ace; then comes the merry-go-round with its jumping horses and a little baby merry-go-round for the smaller kiddies, and the tango swings.

Then comes the Caterpillar, which is the latest riding device on the market and is only carried by the largest carnivals which are showing the eastern states.

The Geo. L. Dobyns Shows are the second largest playing Pennsylvania and are considered by both press and public to be the most refined and cleanest show traveling.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

You'll have to hand it to Governor Pinchot, whether you like his every action or no—the old boy has the courage of his convictions alright. He's going to make his administration bone dry if every deserving Republican in Pennsylvania has to go by the board and none but Prohibitionists are put upon the watch towers. The Governor has tendered questionnaires to all State employees which contain a "shirt tail note" pledge to abstain from every thing intoxicating and the employees or would-be employees must sign on the dotted line or he gets no job. The average Pennsylvania Republican politician would do anything asked of him thus far in order to land a place at the "pic counter." Wonder how many will refuse to sign the pledge.

There is nothing, or but a very few things, that will make a farmer madder than to have a fox sneak out of the bushes every day or so and make off with one of his big, fat, prize, laying hens. Squire George B. Shergert, Chief Justice of the Crooked Sower Supreme Court can tell you that some of those very few things are. For some time past a sly fox has been helping himself with reckless abandon to "Squire Shergert's" chickens, finally becoming so bold as to stalk and make away with them in broad day light. Between Sunday and Thursday last no less than eight of the "Squire's" hens had gone to grace John Fox's banquet board and the usually genial Justice's Democratic blood was at such a heat from his righteous wrath that he decided something had to be done and that at once. In fact the "Squire" was so mad he thought it absolutely impossible to get any madder. He then and then decided that he would use his noble also his trusty rifle and stop that chicken stealer's depredations.

Thursday morning before the break of day (foxes sometimes go up early to look around) the "Squire" prepared himself a bush screen or blind and decided to get therein and wait for the fox, which upon his appearance after a chicken, would be met with a rifle bullet. When he first got into the "blind" the "Squire" sat himself down upon a block of wood he had provided for that purpose. That block got more or less uncomfortable and when Mrs. Shergert sneaked the "old man's" dinner out at noon, he sent back word to send out a kitchen chair.

The chair was taken to the blind and the vigil resumed with more comfort. In fact it was so comfortable sitting in that chair tilted back against an apple tree that about 5:30 in the evening the "Squire" had dozed off in a nap. He was awakened from his snooze by his good wife who cried, in a stage whisper finally audible to the sleeping avenger of the hens, "Waken up, Pap! here comes the fox." Dashing the sleep out of his eyes with a grapple thumb Shergert saw the fox sneak over toward an unsuspecting biped hen. Reaching for his gun he leaned forward in the chair, and with the gun to his shoulder attempted to get up for a better sight of the chicken stealer as the fox dropped quickly into a depression in the ground with just his back showing. That move was fatal to the "Squire's" purpose as he had his overalls on, the legs of same being turned up about four inches from the bottom, and when the "Squire" got his feet on the ground as the chair descended, from its leaning position against the tree one of the chair legs settled firmly in the cuff of the "Squire's" trouser leg and when he tried to get up the chair leg tripped him and over he went rifle and all. His trigger finger was working and as he felt the gun was discharged the bullet ploughing a harmless furrow in the sod as the fox with hen No. 9 in his jaws silently disappeared into the brush.

Talk about being mad. The "Squire" was so darn mad, we know he won't speak to us when he finds out we told this story on him. He also kicked that chair twenty feet in the air when he gathered himself up and heard his wife's laughter, and said that fox could go where Andy Volstead ought to have been a couple of years ago.

Delegates to the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association convention at Atlantic City recently, visited the far-famed Boardwalk church, of which Rev. Arthur Elwood is pastor, and heard the veteran Presbyterian minister speak on "A Front Page Story."

"Jesus was a front page personality," declared Dr. Elwood, "for He was always doing something that was of real news character. The mere fact that He talked with that Samaritan woman was of interest, because at that time the Jews had no dealings with the Samaritans."

"With Jesus, common sense was of more value than any custom. Some people are more interested in their ancestry than in their own actions, just like this Samaritan woman, but Jesus shows that present living is of more value than ancient history."

"Pride in one's distinguished origin may be alright, provided it is linked up with the common sense desire to so live that the ancestors, if they were around, needn't be ashamed of the descendants. The worship of God is not a matter of place, method or time, but, as Jesus taught, is entirely a matter of the attitude of the spirit."

"Doing God's will is a better tonic than a vacation and anybody who lives a Christ-like life, will find the Christ strength to perform. The Samaritan woman found she was changed by leaving her water pot and going to tell others about Jesus. Natural things will never supply a spiritual need and only Jesus Christ can make us forget the temporal in the enjoyment of the eternal. Jesus redeemed a sinful woman but His disciples wondered that He talked with her and the preacher today who will try to save a prostitute will find his Ladies' Aid Society most likely discussing his motives as well as his action."

"Results with God are of more value than methods, so Jesus by a wayside well created a better news story in the salvation of a woman than if He had been slumbering in a synagogue. Sychar's sensation was the Saviour whose presence made a first-page story the town never forgot and anywhere today that Jesus is given a chance, He will do the same work."

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

The week which sees that austere and weighty body, the Republican National Committee, take off its hat to the ladies, cannot by any manner of means be called uneventful. That is exactly what has happened during the past week. And to those who like their politics, it is a question whether its happening was not considered almost as important as the breaking of the hot spell.

At last the controllers of Republican destinies have capitulated! They have officially admitted there is such a thing as a woman and that she votes. In fact, it is hard to escape the conclusion they have officially admitted her vote is just as good as a man's and that they want it.

The sign and signal of this surprising state of affairs is that they have sent word to the present members of the National Committee (male) that each is to appoint from his state a woman who is to sit as "associate member" from that state.

With this entering wedge established, it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that at the next meeting of the National Committee its rules will be so amended as to admit women on an equal basis with the men to full membership. The Democratic National Committee did that some time since and Miss Mary Archer of Reading has lost these many moons been officially entitled to the designation, Democratic National Committee-woman from Pennsylvania.

The national governing body of the Republican party has been a long time coming to it, but it has finally got there. If you had sat in the last Republican national convention at Chicago, as the writer did, and heard the best speech of the week delivered by a woman, Mrs. Robinson of New York, sister of Theodore Roosevelt, you might have suspected they were destined to come to it at a date not too far distant in the future. It has taken this long, however.

This substantial recognition of woman in organized party politics by what is probably the most conservative body engaged in party politics, cannot be overestimated for its importance as a sign of the times. It does not amount to so much by itself, for "associate membership" in the Republican National Committee is a distinction as hazy as the Ford boom for President, but it means a great deal when interpreted as it should be, as the first decisive lowering of the bars to women by the Republican inner oligarchy. It inevitably suggests an answer favorable to women to the question: Where do we go from here?

Senator Pepper was designated to make the choice in his capacity of National Committeeman from Pennsylvania. He announced he would do so after consulting Senator Reed, State Chairman W. Harry Baker and Governor Pinchot. Having presumably done so, he announced the selection had fallen upon Mrs. Berlav H. Warburton, generally said to be from Philadelphia, but more properly credited to Montgomery County, since that is where her voting residence is.

Nobody had to do any great amount of thinking to arrive at the conclusion that Mrs. Warburton was the proper person for the honor. In the first place, her position as Vice-Chairman of the Republican State Committee means that the organization has recognized her as the spokesman for the women who seek active participation in party affairs. She is the titular leader of the organization Republican women.

But in politics there is such a thing as being a titular leader without being an actual leader. Mrs. Warburton does not come within that ornamental but on the whole empty classification. As far as there can be said to be any leader among Republican organization women in the present new and undeveloped state of their participation in politics, Mrs. Warburton fills the bill.

As far as the present writer at least is concerned, he made up his mind as to her qualities of leadership at that precise moment in the last gubernatorial primary campaign when she came out with an unqualified endorsement of the candidacy of Gifford Pinchot.

Her having done so is a phenomenon worthy of being examined into. In beginning the process, remember that she had been chosen for her position by the state organization and had been given the second highest office in the official governing body of the party in the state. Now, having fixed that fact firmly in your mind, proceed to remember further that the leaders who ran the party organization had decided upon Attorney General Alter as the candidate they would endeavor to put through.

Under such circumstances, what would have been expected of a man in position similar to Mrs. Warburton's is that he should have "stuck" behind the Alter candidacy unswervingly—and most men would have done it.

Mrs. Warburton did not do so. She had enough political sagacity to know that the mass of the women voters favored the Pinchot candidacy, enough initiative to resolve to express their viewpoint instead of remaining hitched to the organization post, and enough courage to go through with what she conceived to be the right thing for her to do. And sagacity, initiative and courage are precisely the qualities of leadership.

Make no mistake about it having required courage to do what she did. When she made her declaration for Pinchot she could not know whether he would win or lose subsequently, in fact, the odds were rather that he would lose. So she faced the proposition that her declaration was quite likely to result in nothing but her own elimination from the party councils.

The chances are she made her decision and took her action entirely on the ground of principle, that it was the right thing for her to do, win or lose. The male politician who operates on that method is the exception to the rule, for the male politician wants to stay in politics and to do that he believes that in the long run it is far more valuable to him to pick the cause that will win and espouse it, rather than indulge himself in the luxury of battling for a lost cause and going down to defeat.

Women are too new to politics to have acquired that sort of motivation as yet. They have not won so extensive a foothold as to make them count too closely the cost of losing what they have. Several generations hence they may acquire the same viewpoint as the men in that regard. But until they do, the male politicians will have to get used to the fact that their feminine associates, both leaders and voters, will be inclined to look upon questions of expediency as of minimum importance and matters of principle as all-important.

The beauty of Mrs. Warburton's position in the Pinchot matter, returning to that, is that even if the male politicians judged it from their own viewpoint of expediency, she was still right. For she picked the winner. And that, in practical politics, is the final and crowning justification.

So Mrs. Warburton, with this background, goes into the Republican National Committee as the "associate" member from Pennsylvania. In the lively doings that are to come, it will be accepted without question by those who have seen her perform that she will be quite capable of holding up her end of the log.

In the meantime Harrisburg has not been without its share

Progress Editorial For Women

THE LONG UPWARD ROAD

By FLORINCE DAVIES

Are we civilized? The question will persist, and sometimes it is not easy to answer yes. The slow round of the spiral takes such a long stretch in its upward course that we appear to plod on the dead level much of the time. And every now and then a wagon wheel's need to be steeled further than ever to make contact with the nearest star.

But then comes a bit of news that holds a note of encouragement. The morning paper printed two items the other day, far apart in locale, but both proving that we are on the upgrade.

In Chicago, to begin nearest home a wealthy man was invited to address a big crowd on the subject of his favorite charity. When he arrived he found that there was an arena roped off and the eager throng was there to witness a prize fight after the "cause" had been duly presented.

"Abhorring prize fights," we are told, the speaker abandoned all thought of making his plea before such a gathering, and handing the chairman of the meeting a check for $2,500 as a personal offering in lieu of many smaller contributions, he left the place with all speed.

Now there are worse things than pragmatic spectacles, as everyone knows, and no doubt the eager audience would have been generous when the charity collection was taken. But isn't it encouraging to think that, just as civilization puts the ban on ball fights in most countries of the world, a man to whom every sort of entertainment was open, through his wealth, preferred to give a big sum himself, rather than appeal for funds to the crowd called together to witness the mauling?

The second little straw that shows a favoring wind, blows in from London, where a gruesome collection of relics of famous crimes and criminals was sold at auction recently.

Fascinated by criminal research as a lifelong study, a certain well known writer has built up the collection during a long life time. At his death the old Newgate locks, rusty leg-irons, fragments of gallows on which notorious villains perished, and many similar relics, slowly gathered and long hoarded, went for so little that it was instantly apparent that the popular relish for such souvenirs is not what it was a generation or two ago.

The "Black Museum" as the collection was called, sold "to an almost indifferent public in less than half an hour."

of the limelight. There is considerable disturbance among the department employees on the Hill. They are subject to attack from two directions. In the first place, the Governor has announced he will not keep anyone in the state's service who will not agree to give his word of honor to observe strictly the prohibition amendment, the Volstead Act, and Pennsylvania's statutes supplementary thereto.

Those who can survive this test have still another hurdle to take. The Governor has asked for a list of employees of all departments with the idea of beginning the weeding-out process he is empowered to undertake under the terms of the re-organization code. In connection with this there is the threat of political imputations that lies in his having asked for the political sponsors of each employee to be given and his statement that he will not tolerate "boring from within" by those not favorable to his administration.

So the clerks, inspectors, messengers and all the others in Harrisburg are worrying about their jobs. Some good people in Philadelphia are worrying also about his having signed the Aron bill, which reduces the powers of the President Judge of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia. That, however, is the product of an internal row in the machine politics of the Pennsylvania and means nothing much more than that the organization has struck at the political strength of Judge Brown, which we outside Philadelphia need not worry about.

OPEN CAR BECOMES MORE POPULAR AS WEATHER WARMS UP

Since the automobile industry now exceeds in volume any other industry in the country, it is coming to be looked upon as a barometer for all other lines of business.

Yet strange things happen in the industry which baffle even the oldest leaders in a business which has grown more rapidly than any other in the history of the world.

One year ago the automobile manufacturers decided that because nearly everybody was driving with the top up that everybody wanted an enclosed car, so a tremendous increase in the production of enclosed cars was planned and all of the advertising and salesmanship of the industry was concentrated upon the promotion of this particular type.

Now a new and very interesting angle has developed.

Thousands of people throughout the country are riding this spring with the tops down.

This is in keeping with the idea which has always been prevalent in England where automobile tops are always made so that they may be put down readily.

Sunshine is such an important element in the retention of good health that many people who were thought to be prospective buyers of enclosed cars are exhibiting the fact that they would prefer to have the free, open air rather than the feeling of being within four walls and a ceiling. Adv.

Harry Lines' motor truck took a lot of a muleish streak on State street in front of the post office yesterday afternoon, and before it was under full control bumped into Curley's large team of gray horses. The shock tore the harness considerably and lamed the animals.

Howard J. Thompson and wife started for a motor tour yesterday, leaving in Buffalo and a number of her lake resorts. Their outing will last almost all of next week.

Druggist J. L. Leib leaves on Monday for a week's vacation trip. He spent the time at his old home in York county and at Baltimore, as well as a number of other towns with which he is acquainted. Stanley Kuwa will "sub" in the drug store during the owner's absence.

Dr. J. B. Stein of Harrisburg will be at the M. E. church on Sabbath morning. The evening service will be conducted by the regular pastor at the usual hour.

The borough guardians are having fence built between the Park line and that of the Irvin farm. Street commissioner Billy Dale has charge of the blue print.

Councilman Charles Sweney tells that Borough Council has nothing to do whatever with the house and the boat is at the Park, as the same was placed there by the Board of summer and are their property. He so admitted that the building in question was not what it ought to be kept as clean as it should be. He estimated, however, that if the outfit were turned over to the Council with authority of full control, that some improvement might possibly be made better the condition from what it is been. As there is no one residing in the park grounds, it is a pretty good proposition to keep anything in good shape, as a certain crowd of boys have made it a business to destroy everything in sight, whenever opportunity presented itself and they were sure of not being detected their acts of vandalism.

Miss E. tells and Miss Mary Buckley, South Side, left on Wednesday

morning for a visit in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Elyria and Toledo, Ohio. The young ladies will be gone several weeks.

The new work on the interior of the Al McNaul butcher shop and grocery is about completed, and painters are putting the finishing touches on the outside. Clearfield parties were up yesterday and placed a large shade awning over the windows.

A Yellow Dog pigpen is one of the next things to be considered. A kennel of many hounds is soon to be instituted in DuBois and also one in Philipsburg.

The state road is progressing nicely. They are now near the residence of Ray Mulholland with the concrete and expect to have the road finished in fifteen days, weather permitting.

We are wondering if any one in our community has a list of the old soldiers buried in Bradford cemetery. If there is such a list we would be glad to have it published. If not, why could not such a list be secured. We would suggest that the local order of P. O. S. of A. take this matter up. Other towns have such lists, why not we?

John Confer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Confer and Fred Graffius are the guests of relatives in Brookville.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

A recently organized coal company, not having planned to stay longer

of Morrisdale, is interested, has purchased 1,200 acres of lower vein coal land from Pease, Peacock & Kerr, lying between Hawk Run and Morrisdale. The tract will be reached by a slope, the opening to be at Hawk Run. The capacity of the mine is expected to be 1,500 tons daily. Though the land is much of a swamp, latest inventions will be used to drain the same. The development of the tract will begin in the near future, which will afford employment for a large number of men.

The large tract of coal land of Pease, Peacock & Kerr which has been burning underground at Hawk Run for many years past, is now, following the use of steam shovels and other means, nearly extinguished. Trenches have been made cutting off the burning land from the other, thereby saving many tons of coal. The shovels and a big force of men were sent here by the owners during the winter months. At times the fire, burning so furiously and covering such a large portion of the land, made the earth so hot that persons could feel the heat through heavy winter footwear and at some sections where the earth had caved in were holes similar to furnaces and a few minutes after a large piece of wet wood had been placed in it would fall apart in a burst of flame.

John Hall and Mrs. Wayne Hall and baby, of Clearfield visited relatives in Altoona during the week-end.

A new branch store of the Landerbach-Zerby Company will shortly be opened at Spangler, making the seventh distributing point of this large wholesale concern. It is expected the new store will be in operation September 1st. The stores are located at Philipsburg, Clearfield, Bellefonte, Punksutawney, DuBois and Indiana.

St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, this morning at 9 o'clock was the scene of another beautiful nuptial event, the contracting parties on this occasion being Miss Sarah Vallalla, of Morrisdale, and Alphonse allur day, of Hawk Run. Rev. Father E. J. Fischer, the rector, performed the ceremony. Miss Catherine Lums, of Morrisdale, was bridesmaid and William Sallurday, brother of the groom was best man. The bride wore a dress of satin and carried a bouquet of white roses and a white veil. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Mae Came, of Pittsburgh who was a school chum of the bride at Seton Hill Academy, Greensburg, was the only attendant. She wore a becoming frock of turquoise blue.

Madam Wilcox and her husband Philip Wilcox of Philipsburg have just returned from Providence R. WELL KNOWN YOUNG COUPLE WED

St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings this season when Miss Mary O'Neill daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Neill, of Morrisdale became the bride of Victor L. Kelly, youngest son of H. P. Kelly, of Bellefonte, on Wednesday morning, June 27th, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. E. J. Fischer performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white chiffon crepe. The skirt was made of tiny ruffles trimmed with narrow French lace and the waist was a tight bodice with a square French lace collar. Her hat, which was of pale effect, was made of tiny lace ruffles with small white roses around the crown. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Mae Came, of Pittsburgh who was a school chum of the bride at Seton Hill Academy, Greensburg, was the only attendant. She wore a becoming frock of turquoise blue.

crepe satin. The skirt was circular, wide at the sides, with a fitted bodice enhanced by a pale pink satin sash, the only trimming. Her hat was a picture model of cream-colored straw with pink roses on the brim. She also carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Dolores and Josephine O'Neill, of Altoona and Miss Margaret Howe, of Morrisdale, nieces of the bride, were flower girls, and wore dainty frocks of white organdie and carried baskets of red roses. James O'Neill, brother of the bride, was best man for Mr. Kelly.

This wedding united the lives of two very splendid young people, and the bride, an attractive and charming young lady, who enjoys the esteem of a wide circle of friends and the groom, energetic and likewise highly regarded, since upon their wedding

Miss Mae Came, of Pittsburgh who was a school chum of the bride at Seton Hill Academy, Greensburg, was the only attendant. She wore a becoming frock of turquoise blue.

A CAR WORTH ITS NAME

4-wheel BRAKES

Again—Rickenbacker Engineering Leads, and Shows the Way

First assumed that leadership, by creating a motor free from any period of vibration—the most destructive force in an automobile.

The Rickenbacker "Tandem Flywheel" accomplished this.

Then the "Air Cleaner"—which doubles the life and renders your motor free from excessive carbon deposits.

And now—we announce the greatest improvement made in an automobile since the advent of the self-starter—13 years ago.

Here is a feature that is super-efficient; for not only do the four wheel brakes increase your tire mileage and eliminate all tendency to skid, but they offer the only practical solution of the twin problems of congested traffic and public safety.

With the same effort, you stop in about half the distance—with half the strain on tires, brake linings and other parts that you do in the same car equipped with 2-wheel brakes.

Or, with much less effort, your car stops in the same distance with still less strain on tires and axles.

Verily: "A demonstration is a revelation!"

For, if we told you here all the advantages of this great engineering achievement your credulity would be unequal to the test.

One cannot believe until he himself has experienced the sensation of riding in—and driving—a Rickenbacker with 4-wheel brakes.

So convinced are we of the superiority of four over two, we predict that one year from today 4-wheel brakes will be universal.

Remember this when rival salesmen try to argue against 4-wheel brakes—for of course they must, not having them, yet.

The superiority is so marked and so manifest, there is just no ground left for argument.

As we have stated, this is, and will be, regarded as the greatest single improvement in an automobile since the advent of that other epoch-making feature—the self-starter.

Here's a self-stopper—if you will!

Amazing in performance.

Does not affect steering unless it be to give you better control of the car when turning.

Actually stops car on wet asphalt quicker than 2-wheel brakes do on dry, with no skidding!

There's a feeling of security when driving on a wet or slippery surface that is indescribable and most reassuring.

Equalized as no other braking system has ever been equalized—to compensate, not only for difference in traction of each wheel, but for difference in wear of shoes and drums.

Drums are finely machined to ensure absolute uniformity and smoothness of operation. Another example of Rickenbacker thoroughness and care.

Think of this greatly increased factor of safety—100 per cent more than you have been accustomed to.

Here is a mighty long step towards the solution of the traffic problem.

You can stop in "a car length" at any legal speed—or glide to a velvet pause, in half the distance you are used to.

No, NOT hydraulic—pneumatic—or electric. Mechanical—positive—simple—sure—a system any child can understand.

4-wheel brakes wear longer because the coefficient of friction per square inch of braking surface is less than half of what it is in two.

Tires wear longer for the same reason. Brake linings, too.

Silent, and uniformly efficient at all times and under all conditions—for all four brakes are of the internal, expanding type—dust-proof clean, slightly.

By the way—Rickenbacker brake drums are painted a brilliant red, so that you will easily recognize this feature in a Rickenbacker Six. All four brakes alike—interchangeable! That's another wonderful advantage.

Of course you recall that the Rickenbacker was the first high-class car that had steel disc wheels as standard. That bit of courage and enterprise started the wood wheel on the road to obsolescence.

And now—this latest Rickenbacker invention will relegate to the limbo of the forgotten, the old style of brake.

Six equalizers—one in each wheel and one between each pair of brakes to front and rear.

From now on, in the Rickenbacker Six, you will enjoy motoring as you never did before.

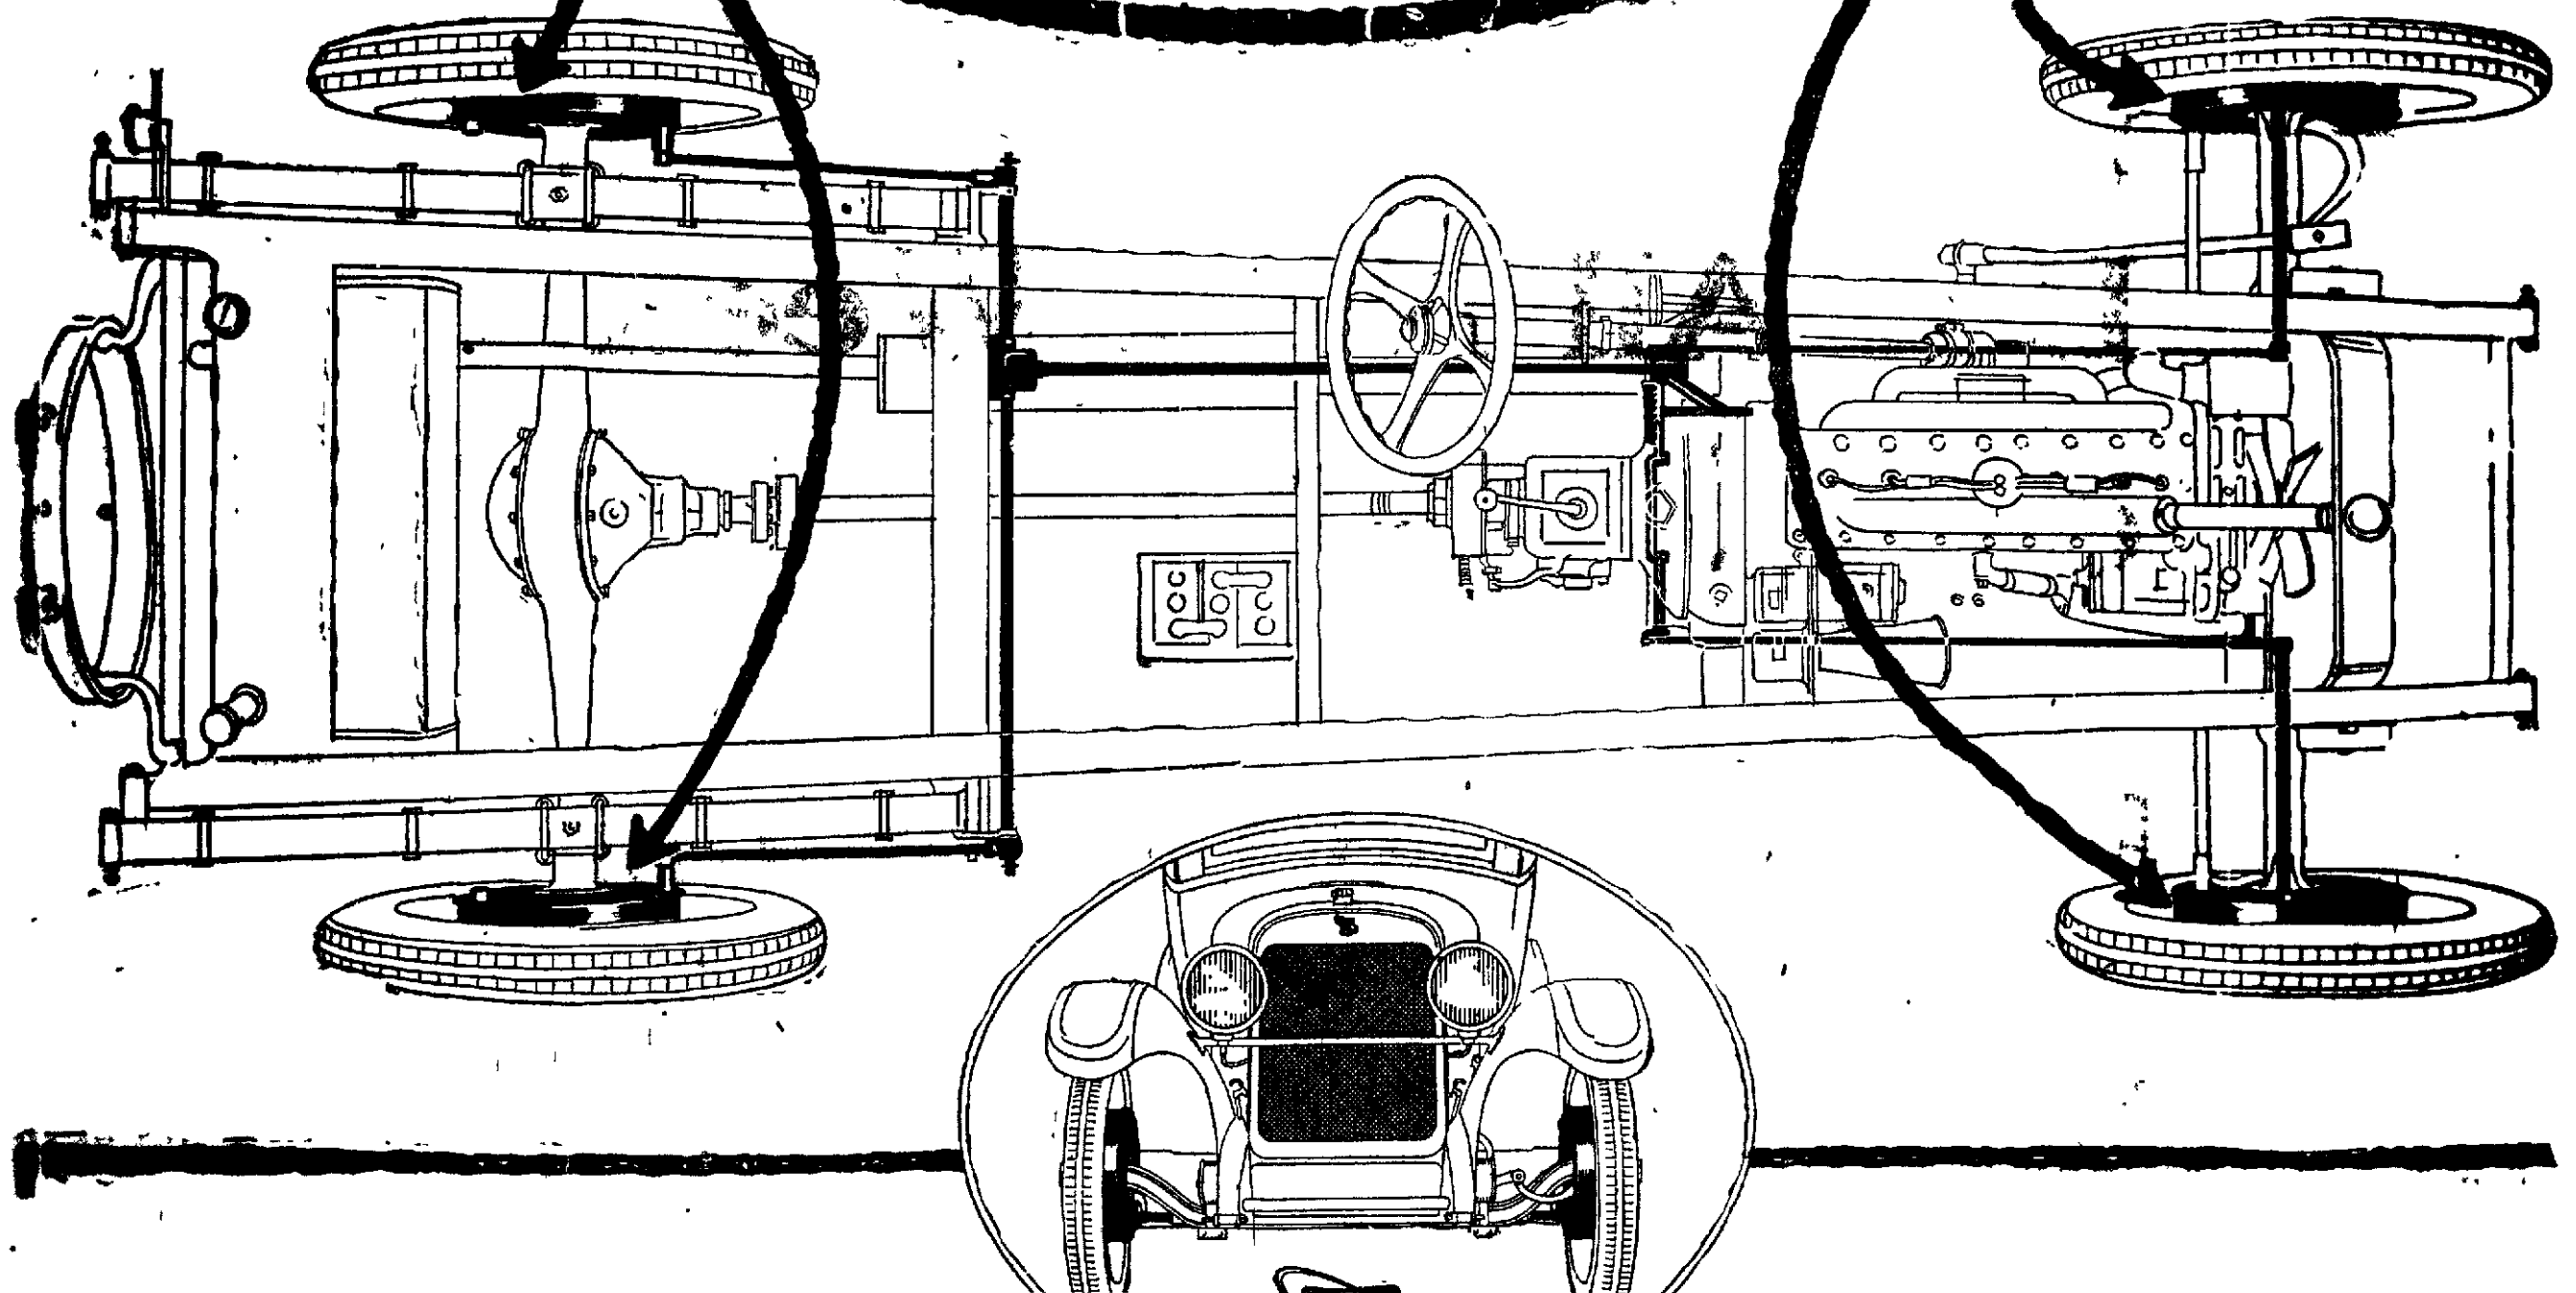

Phone, or come in and arrange for your demonstration.

Don't delay. First come must be first shown—and, of course, every progressive motorist in town will want a ride in this sensational Rickenbacker Six—with 4-wheel brakes.

THOUSANDS OF IMMIGRANTS AWAIT ENTRY INTO U. S. AT MIDNIGHT

RUSSIA, POLAND AND ITALY QUOTAS FOR MONTH WILL BE FILLED DURING THE WEEK; 2,627 TO LAND TOMORROW

New York, June 30.—16 ships from foreign lands are lining up off quarantine today to rush into port at midnight tonight when the new immigration period opens.

These ships will land their first 2,627 passengers on Ellis Island before dawn Sunday and then the force of agents will undertake the work of weeding out.

Some of the quotas the officers say will be exceeded before the end of the week. Russia's allotment of 4,881 will be filled by Wednesday. Poland's 6,195 by Thursday. Italy already has more immigrants on the way than she is allowed for the entire month. It will take days to clean up the confusion. Many will have to remain in the quarters aboard the ships until the 69 inspectors at Ellis Island get a chance to handle their cases. The work will start at 7 a. m. Sunday and continue right through.

Harrisburg Suffers Two Fires in The Heart Of The Business District

Harrisburg, Pa., June 30.—Two spectacular fires in the heart of the business district here kept the firemen battling smoke and flames for hours today.

The Daphin Building, housing part of the State's offices was swept by fire of undetermined origin. The building was remodeled on the site of the old Commonwealth Hotel, completely destroyed two years ago by a similar fire.

The first fire occurred in the Pennsylvania Hotel. Firemen were called twice to fight the flames, which swept through the ventilation tubes to the roof of the hotel.

CIMO, MURDERER OF SWEETHEART HERE, TO BE PARDONED

Has Served Nine Years In Pen For Crime On Third Street In 1914 Young Woman Slain

HAD JILTED LOVER

The Board of Pardons which yesterday brought joy to the hearts of thirty-four persons serving time in Pennsylvania penitentiaries, while refusing amnesty to fifty-seven others acted on two Clearfield county cases. Philip Cimino, of Clearfield, who was convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of his sweetheart on Third Street in 1914 was recommended for a pardon after nine years in the pen.

The Clearfield county application for a pardon for William and Donald Delaney, of Coalport, recently convicted and sentenced by Judge Bell for aggravated assault and battery was refused.

Philip Cimino is indeed a lucky man. The crime for which he was serving time was committed at the home of his brother, the late Frank Cimino, in the Shaver building on Third street. Philip Cimino sent to Italy for Miss Maria Bruzotti with the intention of making her his wife upon the young woman's arrival here. She was an exceptionally pretty girl of about 18 years and after coming to Clearfield Cimino gave her a couple of hundred dollars with which to buy wedding clothes and the pair were apparently as happy as could be, but after being here a few days the girl informed Cimino that she had decided not to marry him, but would return to New York City, where it was said she expected to marry a young man she had met on the journey across the ocean.

When the girl told Cimino of her change of heart, he became frantic and after attempting to have her change her mind and failing to do so, he shot and almost instantly killed her during the night of March 8th, 1914.

Cimino was tried before Judge Bell, the trial starting May 7th, 1914. He was prosecuted by the then District Attorney Walter Welch, who was assisted by A. M. Liveright and W. I. Swoope, while the late A. L. Cole and W. C. Miller defended him. A verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree was returned against Cimino at 1:30 a. m. May 10th. Motion for new trial was made and refused by Judge Bell on July 23rd and the death sentence imposed on Cimino by Judge Bell on Sept. 29th.

Cimino was not thought to be very strong mentally or physically and application was made to the Board of Pardons for a commutation of sentence, which was granted by the Board, and Cimino was turned over to

MINER SUFFERS BROKEN BACK

Steve Perkowski, aged about 30 years, a miner employed in one of Burns Brothers mines at Grampian, was caught under a fall of rock while at work in the mine about 12 o'clock yesterday and had his back broken.

The seriously injured man was taken out from under the rock fall by fellow miners. After being given first aid by Dr. Miller was taken to the Pennsylvania station at Grampian by Supt. Howard Burns and brought to the Clearfield hospital on the 1:25 train yesterday afternoon. When examined by the physicians there it was found that several vertebrae were crushed and broken, but the spinal cord and nerves did not appear to be seriously injured and some hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Perkowsky is a widower, his wife having died several months ago and left him with five children to support.

It looks as though C. P. Wood, the driver, and his companion were temptingly late in making this turn at Quarter Bridge in a race on the Isle of Man. Note how the passenger throws himself across the machine to balance it as the turn is made at high speed.

OLD MAN MEASLES, CHICKEN POX AND MUMPS TAKE VACATION SO KIDS CAN HAVE A REAL FOURTH OF JULY HERE

Clearfield kids are healthy little tykes as Secretary Gaulin of the Health Board was called upon to quarantine but one case of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever during the past seven days. The quarantine was lifted in one case of measles and one of whooping cough during the same period.

There are now but seven cases of communicable diseases under quarantine in the town. They are located as follows:

- 1st Ward—Diphtheria, 1; Scarlet Fever, 2.
- 2nd Ward—Whooping Cough, 2.
- 3rd Ward—Scarlet Fever, 1.
- 4th Ward—Diphtheria, 1.

SEVERAL OF CREW ON "WILLIAMSON" HURT BY BLAST

Newport, R. I. June 30.—Several of the crew of the United States destroyer Williamson were reported injured in an explosion in the forward engine room in the vessel's hold shortly after noon today. Several injured were said to have been taken to the Naval Hospital.

Dr. Fred T. Kyper left today for Baltimore, where he will intern at University hospital.

Mystery 'Woman'

"Mrs. Francis Thompson," arrested in Chicago, was found to be "Fred Thompson" in disguise. He is said by police to have been identified as the "woman of the morning smile," who cold-bloodedly shot down Richard G. Tamm, as Tamm and his wife were putting their auto in the garage in the fashionable North Side district. The prisoner first was looked as a woman. At top he is shown in surprising attire.

HONORARY MEMBERS OF THE LEGION BAND GIVEN GREAT TREAT

The American Legion Band performed right up to expectations last evening on the occasion of the Honorary Members Concert. In fact, they greatly exceeded the expectations of those who were present for the first time to hear this band in concert. The program was varied enough to suit every musical appetite from the person who knows music and attends with a most critical ear to those who want to hear old familiar strains.

The ability of the Director to take a bunch of amateur musicians and weld them into a concert band was proven beyond a doubt in the opening overture, "Der Freischütz," one of the most difficult compositions that could be selected. Entirely devoid of syncopation, jazz and march time, this overture could not possibly be played by any but symphony artists. It was produced, however, under the baton of Professor Thayer in a manner that was pleasing to all. It was followed by the titling "Brasero" by Thayer himself, an extremely popular theme. Equally pleasing was the Caprice "LaLison-pere" by Chaminade.

Edwin Howard, Piccolo soloist, performed like a veteran and finished with a storm of applause which brought an encore. Then followed John Miller, basso of Tyronce. It required two encores to appease the audience. At a latter time on the program Mr. Miller was required to sing again and again, finishing with "The Big Base Vict." Mr. Miller possesses one of the finest voices ever heard in Clearfield. Many in the audience had heard him before and when he mounted the stage a storm of applause greeted him.

"McKinley's Own," a march from the pen of Professor Thayer, started out like a hurricane, the swirl of the brass and reed sections practically carrying the hearers off their seats. As a writer of marches Professor Thayer is a second Sousa and the great band leader himself could have gotten no better performance put of the players.

HAS AN ARM BROKEN IN PLUNGE OF AUTO DOWN EMBANKMENT

Ephraim Davies, who was employed by "Squire W. E. Kratzer on his saw mill on the old John Wrigley, now Elmer Peters farm, received a broken left arm in an accident which occurred near the home of John W. Nelson on the Clover Hill road yesterday afternoon. Mr. Davies, with his two sons, James and John and his brother, were on their way home from the saw mill in their Ford car about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At the Nelson place, the driver of the car decided to turn off into a short cut road when his car overturned off the road and went down over an embankment smashing it into junk. All the occupants of the car were scratched and bruised some, while Mr. Davies had his arm broken just below the elbow and received other painful injuries.

LINEMAN HURT WHEN POLE BREAKS

James Flanagan, aged 19 years, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Flanagan, formerly of Hilldale, but now residing near Frenchville, is a patient in the Clearfield hospital suffering from bumps and bruises received in an accident which occurred at the Clearfield Park yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Young Flanagan was one of a crew of Peas Public Linemen stringing a light line through the Park. He ascended a pole and while at work near the top the pole snapped off at the ground. He rode the pole to the ground and received a number of painful bumps and bruises when the pole hit the ground. His brother, Mike, who was also in the crew, also received some slight cuts and bruises in the accident. Young Jim was taken to the Clearfield hospital for treatment and word from the hospital at noon today is to the effect that he is coming along finely and is not badly hurt.

Lasker Denies That The Leviathan Party Made Speeches Against J. B.

London, June 30.—Speeches attacking Great Britain in terms which were "unfit to print" were delivered by cruisers aboard the Shipping Board liner Leviathan during her trial trip, according to a dispatch to the New York correspondent of the London Daily Mail, published today. "Lasker" (then chairman of the Shipping Board) who was the official host, listened with every appearance of approval to a tirade of abuse of everything British from W. F. Gibbs, naval architect who reconducted the Leviathan, the dispatch stated. The Daily Mail quoted Gibbs as saying that he had learned "all the crooked tricks" of British steamship owners and that America was now going to sweep the British off the seas.

Chicago, June 30.—A. E. Lasker, former Chairman of the United States Shipping Board today flatly denied that W. F. Gibbs, naval architect delivered a speech abusing England. "I never heard Mr. Gibbs make any such remarks as published by the Daily Mail," Lasker said. "This whole thing is news to me."

Two Out Of Every Five Homes in U. S. A. Owned by Occupant

Madison, Wis., June 30 (United Press)—Two out of every five homes in the United States are owned by the people living therein.

Federal census figures compiled by the national institute for research in land economics and public utilities, of which Dr. Richard T. Ely, University of Wisconsin land economist, is director, show that home ownership increased from 38.4 per cent in 1910 to 40.9 per cent in 1920. The 1920 figure was 36.9 per cent.

Practically 3 out of every 5 owned homes are free from debt or mortgage. The figures show that of the 40.9 per cent, 24.7 are free from debt and 16.2 are encumbered.

Between 1890 and 1920 the average value of each of the 16.2 per cent—the owned mortgaged homes increased from $3,250 to $4,388. The size of the mortgage increased from $1,293 to $2,102.

This would indicate that the mortgaged home-owner is going deeper into debt than before. The mortgages on homes in 1890 averaged 39.8 per cent of the value of the home; in 1920 it averaged 46.2 per cent.

Mortgaged for Autos

"The purchase of automobiles is said to be made in many cases out of funds raised by borrowing on security of the home," the Institute comments in a bulletin. "Certainly, many home mortgages remain unpaid because the surplus funds have gone into the purchase of automobiles."

New York City has the largest percentage of rented houses, only 12.7 per cent owning their homes. Of this 12.7 per cent, 10 per cent were in debt and only 2.7 free from debt.

Figures for other cities of more than 300,000 population were:

Chicago—73 per cent rented, 27 per cent owned (17.2 per cent are mortgaged).

Philadelphia—60.5 per cent rented 39.5 per cent owned (27.7 per cent are mortgaged.)

Detroit—61.7 per cent rented, 38.3

SOMETHING ABOUT THE DOBYNS SHOWS

The Geo. L. Dobyns Shows, which have been engaged to furnish the attractions for the John Lewis Shade Post No. 6 American Legion third annual celebration, will arrive Sunday afternoon over the Pennsylvania railroad from Pittsburgh, where it has been playing 15 days for Troop 18 Boy Scouts, of the East End, Christian church.

The Dobyns Shows are made up of shows of the best of talent, consisting of a circus side show featuring Minnie Ha Ha. Minnie has traveled all over this country playing just the largest of cities. She is well worth the admission herself but there are ten shows in this side show.

Then there are the Metropolitan Minstrels with their funny dorkies singing, dancing and funny jokes which make the old laugh the same as the young.

Lloyds House of Wonders with Maxina the living half lady and a dozen illusions which sure do deceive the eye.

Tanania, the show which has all of Coney Island talking.

Princes Conetta, the smallest living lady of the day, who is considered the most perfectly formed, midjet, traveling with a show.

Then there is the Strangest Girl Alive, who has been brought to this country to be educated so she may be able to return to Southern Africa to teach her own tribes fight from wrong. The girl is what is known as a snake worshipper. She prays to the snakes which are of the worst we have in the states, but at no time does she even fear them. At night she sleeps with them covering her entire head and body.

Busy City which is a small working model of a city, each and every person working just as you see on your streets every day.

Weavers Horse Show, which is made up of horses, dogs and ponies. A show which always pleases the men, women and children.

The last but not least is the Congress of Athletics, which consists of the best boxers and wrestlers there are traveling with any show.

Mr. Dobyns has personally invited every newsboy to be his guest Monday night. He takes great pleasure in seeing that each and every one of the unhave a good time with him. He always wants them not only to see the shows but to take a ride on every one of his seven rides which are the ship, with its tubs of fun; the ferris wheel, which takes you up ever so high; the sea plane, which gives you a sensation just the same as being up with a flying ace; then comes the merry-go-round with its jumping horses and a little baby merry-go-round for the smaller kiddies, and the tango swings.

Then comes the Caterpillar, which is the latest riding device on the market and is only carried by the largest carnivals which are showing the eastern states.

The Geo. L. Dobyns Shows are the second largest playing Pennsylvania and are considered by both press and public to be the most refined and cleanest show traveling.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

You'll have to hand it to Governor Pinchot, whether you like his every action or no—the old boy has the courage of his convictions alright. He's going to make his administration bone dry if every deserving Republican in Pennsylvania has to go by the board and none but Prohibitionists are put upon the watch towers. The Governor has tendered questionnaires to all State employees which contain a "shirt tail note" pledge to abstain from every thing intoxicating and the employees or would-be employees must sign on the dotted line or he gets no job. The average Pennsylvania Republican politician would do anything asked of him thus far in order to land a place at the "pic counter." Wonder how many will refuse to sign the pledge.

There is nothing, or but a very few things, that will make a farmer madder than to have a fox sneak out of the bushes every day or so and make off with one of his big, fat, prize, laying hens. Squire George B. Shergert, Chief Justice of the Crooked Sower Supreme Court can tell you that some of those very few things are. For some time past a sly fox has been helping himself with reckless abandon to "Squire Shergert's" chickens, finally becoming so bold as to stalk and make away with them in broad day light. Between Sunday and Thursday last no less than eight of the "Squire's" hens had gone to grace John Fox's banquet board and the usually genial Justice's Democratic blood was at such a heat from his righteous wrath that he decided something had to be done and that at once. In fact the "Squire" was so mad he thought it absolutely impossible to get any madder. He then and then decided that he would use his noble also his trusty rifle and stop that chicken stealer's depredations.

Thursday morning before the break of day (foxes sometimes go up early to look around) the "Squire" prepared himself a bush screen or blind and decided to get therein and wait for the fox, which upon his appearance after a chicken, would be met with a rifle bullet. When he first got into the "blind" the "Squire" sat himself down upon a block of wood he had provided for that purpose. That block got more or less uncomfortable and when Mrs. Shergert sneaked the "old man's" dinner out at noon, he sent back word to send out a kitchen chair.

The chair was taken to the blind and the vigil resumed with more comfort. In fact it was so comfortable sitting in that chair tilted back against an apple tree that about 5:30 in the evening the "Squire" had dozed off in a nap. He was awakened from his snooze by his good wife who cried, in a stage whisper finally audible to the sleeping avenger of the hens, "Waken up, Pap! here comes the fox." Dashing the sleep out of his eyes with a grapple thumb Shergert saw the fox sneak over toward an unsuspecting biped hen. Reaching for his gun he leaned forward in the chair, and with the gun to his shoulder attempted to get up for a better sight of the chicken stealer as the fox dropped quickly into a depression in the ground with just his back showing. That move was fatal to the "Squire's" purpose as he had his overalls on, the legs of same being turned up about four inches from the bottom, and when the "Squire" got his feet on the ground as the chair descended, from its leaning position against the tree one of the chair legs settled firmly in the cuff of the "Squire's" trouser leg and when he tried to get up the chair leg tripped him and over he went rifle and all. His trigger finger was working and as he fell the gun was discharged the bullet ploughing a harmless furrow in the sod as the fox with hen No. 9 in his jaws silently disappeared into the brush.

Talk about being mad. The "Squire" was so darn mad, we know he won't speak to us when he finds out we told this story on him. He also kicked that chair twenty feet in the air when he gathered himself up and heard his wife's laughter, and said that fox could go where Andy Volstead ought to have been a couple of years ago.

Delegates to the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association convention at Atlantic City recently, visited the far-famed Boardwalk church, of which Rev. Arthur Elwood is pastor, and heard the veteran Presbyterian minister speak on "A Front Page Story."

"Jesus was a front page personality," declared Dr. Elwood, "for He was always doing something that was of real news character. The mere fact that He talked with that Samaritan woman was of interest, because at that time the Jews had no dealings with the Samaritans."

"With Jesus, common sense was of more value than any custom. Some people are more interested in their ancestry than in their own actions, just like this Samaritan woman, but Jesus shows that present living is of more value than ancient history."

"Pride in one's distinguished origin may be alright, provided it is linked up with the common sense desire to so live that the ancestors, if they were around, needn't be ashamed of the descendants. The worship of God is not a matter of place, method or time, but, as Jesus taught, is entirely a matter of the attitude of the spirit."

"Doing God's will is a better tonic than a vacation and anybody who lives a Christ-like life, will find the Christ strength to perform. The Samaritan woman found she was changed by leaving her water pot and going to tell others about Jesus. Natural things will never supply a spiritual need and only Jesus Christ can make us forget the temporal in the enjoyment of the eternal. Jesus redeemed a sinful woman but His disciples wondered that He talked with her and the preacher today who will try to save a prostitute will find his Ladies' Aid Society most likely discussing his motives as well as his action."

"Results with God are of more value than methods, so Jesus by a wayside well created a better news story in the salvation of a woman than if He had been slumbering in a synagogue. Sychar's sensation was the Saviour whose presence made a first-page story the town never forgot and anywhere today that Jesus is given a chance, He will do the same work."

Political Paragraphs

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

The week which sees that austere and weighty body, the Republican National Committee, take off its hat to the ladies, cannot by any manner of means be called uneventful. That is exactly what has happened during the past week. And to those who like their politics, it is a question whether its happening was not considered almost as important as the breaking of the hot spell.

At last the controllers of Republican destinies have capitulated! They have officially admitted there is such a thing as a woman and that she votes. In fact, it is hard to escape the conclusion they have officially admitted her vote is just as good as a man's and that they want it.

The sign and signal of this surprising state of affairs is that they have sent word to the present members of the National Committee (male) that each is to appoint from his state a woman who is to sit as "associate member" from that state.

With this entering wedge established, it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that at the next meeting of the National Committee its rules will be so amended as to admit women on an equal basis with the men to full membership. The Democratic National Committee did that some time since and Miss Mary Archer of Reading has lost these many moons been officially entitled to the designation, Democratic National Committee-woman from Pennsylvania.

The national governing body of the Republican party has been a long time coming to it, but it has finally got there. If you had sat in the last Republican national convention at Chicago, as the writer did, and heard the best speech of the week delivered by a woman, Mrs. Robinson of New York, sister of Theodore Roosevelt, you might have suspected they were destined to come to it at a date not too far distant in the future. It has taken this long, however.

This substantial recognition of woman in organized party politics by what is probably the most conservative body engaged in party politics, cannot be overestimated for its importance as a sign of the times. It does not amount to so much by itself, for "associate membership" in the Republican National Committee is a distinction as hazy as the Ford boom for President, but it means a great deal when interpreted as it should be, as the first decisive lowering of the bars to women by the Republican inner oligarchy. It inevitably suggests an answer favorable to women to the question: Where do we go from here?

Senator Pepper was designated to make the choice in his capacity of National Committeeman from Pennsylvania. He announced he would do so after consulting Senator Reed, State Chairman W. Harry Baker and Governor Pinchot. Having presumably done so, he announced the selection had fallen upon Mrs. Berlav H. Warburton, generally said to be from Philadelphia, but more properly credited to Montgomery County, since that is where her voting residence is.

Nobody had to do any great amount of thinking to arrive at the conclusion that Mrs. Warburton was the proper person for the honor. In the first place, her position as Vice-Chairman of the Republican State Committee means that the organization has recognized her as the spokesman for the women who seek active participation in party affairs. She is the titular leader of the organization Republican women.

But in politics there is such a thing as being a titular leader without being an actual leader. Mrs. Warburton does not come within that ornamental but on the whole empty classification. As far as there can be said to be any leader among Republican organization women in the present new and undeveloped state of their participation in politics, Mrs. Warburton fills the bill.

As far as the present writer at least is concerned, he made up his mind as to her qualities of leadership at that precise moment in the last gubernatorial primary campaign when she came out with an unqualified endorsement of the candidacy of Gifford Pinchot.

Her having done so is a phenomenon worthy of being examined into. In beginning the process, remember that she had been chosen for her position by the state organization and had been given the second highest office in the official governing body of the party in the state. Now, having fixed that fact firmly in your mind, proceed to remember further that the leaders who ran the party organization had decided upon Attorney General Alter as the candidate they would endeavor to put through.

Under such circumstances, what would have been expected of a man in position similar to Mrs. Warburton's is that he should have "stuck" behind the Alter candidacy unswervingly—and most men would have done it.

Mrs. Warburton did not do so. She had enough political sagacity to know that the mass of the women voters favored the Pinchot candidacy, enough initiative to resolve to express their viewpoint instead of remaining hitched to the organization post, and enough courage to go through with what she conceived to be the right thing for her to do. And sagacity, initiative and courage are precisely the qualities of leadership.

Make no mistake about it having required courage to do what she did. When she made her declaration for Pinchot she could not know whether he would win or lose subsequently, in fact, the odds were rather that he would lose. So she faced the proposition that her declaration was quite likely to result in nothing but her own elimination from the party councils.

The chances are she made her decision and took her action entirely on the ground of principle, that it was the right thing for her to do, win or lose. The male politician who operates on that method is the exception to the rule, for the male politician wants to stay in politics and to do that he believes that in the long run it is far more valuable to him to pick the cause that will win and espouse it, rather than indulge himself in the luxury of battling for a lost cause and going down to defeat.

Women are too new to politics to have acquired that sort of motivation as yet. They have not won so extensive a foothold as to make them count too closely the cost of losing what they have. Several generations hence they may acquire the same viewpoint as the men in that regard. But until they do, the male politicians will have to get used to the fact that their feminine associates, both leaders and voters, will be inclined to look upon questions of expediency as of minimum importance and matters of principle as all-important.

The beauty of Mrs. Warburton's position in the Pinchot matter, returning to that, is that even if the male politicians judged it from their own viewpoint of expediency, she was still right. For she picked the winner. And that, in practical politics, is the final and crowning justification.

So Mrs. Warburton, with this background, goes into the Republican National Committee as the "associate" member from Pennsylvania. In the lively doings that are to come, it will be accepted without question by those who have seen her perform that she will be quite capable of holding up her end of the log.

In the meantime Harrisburg has not been without its share

Progress Editorial For Women

THE LONG UPWARD ROAD

By FLORINCE DAVIES

Are we civilized? The question will persist, and sometimes it is not easy to answer yes. The slow round of the spiral takes such a long stretch in its upward course that we appear to plod on the dead level much of the time. And every now and then a wagon wheel's need to be steeled further than ever to make contact with the nearest star.

But then comes a bit of news that holds a note of encouragement. The morning paper printed two items the other day, far apart in locale, but both proving that we are on the upgrade.

In Chicago, to begin nearest home a wealthy man was invited to address a big crowd on the subject of his favorite charity. When he arrived he found that there was an arena roped off and the eager throng was there to witness a prize fight after the "cause" had been duly presented.

"Abhorring prize fights," we are told, the speaker abandoned all thought of making his plea before such a gathering, and handing the chairman of the meeting a check for $2,500 as a personal offering in lieu of many smaller contributions, he left the place with all speed.

Now there are worse things than pragmatic spectacles, as everyone knows, and no doubt the eager audience would have been generous when the charity collection was taken. But isn't it encouraging to think that, just as civilization puts the ban on ball fights in most countries of the world, a man to whom every sort of entertainment was open, through his wealth, preferred to give a big sum himself, rather than appeal for funds to the crowd called together to witness the mauling?

The second little straw that shows a favoring wind, blows in from London, where a gruesome collection of relics of famous crimes and criminals was sold at auction recently.

Fascinated by criminal research as a lifelong study, a certain well known writer has built up the collection during a long life time. At his death the old Newgate locks, rusty leg-irons, fragments of gallows on which notorious villains perished, and many similar relics, slowly gathered and long hoarded, went for so little that it was instantly apparent that the popular relish for such souvenirs is not what it was a generation or two ago.

The "Black Museum" as the collection was called, sold "to an almost indifferent public in less than half an hour."

of the limelight. There is considerable disturbance among the department employees on the Hill. They are subject to attack from two directions. In the first place, the Governor has announced he will not keep anyone in the state's service who will not agree to give his word of honor to observe strictly the prohibition amendment, the Volstead Act, and Pennsylvania's statutes supplementary thereto.

Those who can survive this test have still another hurdle to take. The Governor has asked for a list of employees of all departments with the idea of beginning the weeding-out process he is empowered to undertake under the terms of the re-organization code. In connection with this there is the threat of political imputations that lies in his having asked for the political sponsors of each employee to be given and his statement that he will not tolerate "boring from within" by those not favorable to his administration.

So the clerks, inspectors, messengers and all the others in Harrisburg are worrying about their jobs. Some good people in Philadelphia are worrying also about his having signed the Aron bill, which reduces the powers of the President Judge of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia. That, however, is the product of an internal row in the machine politics of the Pennsylvania and means nothing much more than that the organization has struck at the political strength of Judge Brown, which we outside Philadelphia need not worry about.

OPEN CAR BECOMES MORE POPULAR AS WEATHER WARMS UP

Since the automobile industry now exceeds in volume any other industry in the country, it is coming to be looked upon as a barometer for all other lines of business.

Yet strange things happen in the industry which baffle even the oldest leaders in a business which has grown more rapidly than any other in the history of the world.

One year ago the automobile manufacturers decided that because nearly everybody was driving with the top up that everybody wanted an enclosed car, so a tremendous increase in the production of enclosed cars was planned and all of the advertising and salesmanship of the industry was concentrated upon the promotion of this particular type.

Now a new and very interesting angle has developed.

Thousands of people throughout the country are riding this spring with the tops down.

This is in keeping with the idea which has always been prevalent in England where automobile tops are always made so that they may be put down readily.

Sunshine is such an important element in the retention of good health that many people who were thought to be prospective buyers of enclosed cars are exhibiting the fact that they would prefer to have the free, open air rather than the feeling of being within four walls and a ceiling. Adv.

Curwensville's Own Column

A man was so badly injured in the amputation yesterday that it is found necessary to send for the balance to convey him to the warfield hospital.

A. G. Honsell, the photographer, secured the services of H. C. eis, of Buffalo, who will take charge of the Curwensville studio during the balance of the summer months. As a workman the new man has here well recommended.

Dr. B. R. and family left yesterday evening in his car for Center county, where they expect to spend a longer in camp.

"Papa" D. W. Fleming has taken to a fancy to the city of Buffalo. He left for a week's sojourn that section of New York state yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. Kratzner met with an unfortunate accident Thursday when she fell backward down a flight of stairs. Several ribs were broken and three or four others sustained a fracture.

Harry Lines' motor truck took a lot of a muleish streak on State street in front of the post office yesterday afternoon, and before it was under full control bumped into Curley's large team of gray horses. The shock tore the harness considerably and lamed the animals.

Howard J. Thompson and wife started for a motor tour yesterday, leaving in Buffalo and a number of her lake resorts. Their outing will last almost all of next week.

Druggist J. L. Leib leaves on Monday for a week's vacation trip. He spent the time at his old home in York county and at Baltimore, as well as a number of other towns with which he is acquainted. Stanley Kuwa will "sub" in the drug store during the owner's absence.

The following persons were visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bloomington avenue, yesterday: Mrs. Talbot Lewis, and Mrs. Henry Sampson, from Amesbury; Samuel Twigg and daughter, Mrs. Warren Merriman and Mr. Charles Kennedy, of Sandy edge.

Dr. J. B. Stein of Harrisburg will be at the M. E. church on Sabbath morning. The evening service will be conducted by the regular pastor at the usual hour.

The borough guardians are having fence built between the Park line and that of the Irvin farm. Street commissioner Billy Dale has charge of the blue print.

Councilman Charles Sweney tells that Borough Council has nothing to do whatever with the house and the boat is at the Park, as the same was placed there by the Board of summer and are their property. He so admitted that the building in question was not what it ought to be kept as clean as it should be. He estimated, however, that if the outfit were turned over to the Council with authority of full control, that some improvement might possibly be made better the condition from what it is been. As there is no one residing in the park grounds, it is a pretty good proposition to keep anything in good shape, as a certain crowd of boys have made it a business to destroy everything in sight, whenever opportunity presented itself and they were sure of not being detected their acts of vandalism.

morning for a visit in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Elyria and Toledo, Ohio. The young ladies will be gone several weeks.

The new work on the interior of the Al McNaul butcher shop and grocery is about completed, and painters are putting the finishing touches on the outside. Clearfield parties were up yesterday and placed a large shade awning over the windows.

A Yellow Dog pig is one of the next things to be considered. A kennel of many hounds is soon to be instituted in DuBois and also one in Philipsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hull of Jamestown are visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Denning of Harrisburg are spending the week with their daughter and family, Mrs. G. R. M. Reidel, at the M. E. parsonage.

Mrs. Liddy Pink and little daughter are visiting this week at the former's home in Philipsburg.

R. G. Ross of Clearfield spent Thursday afternoon, at the home of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Ross.

Don't forget the re-opening service of the M. E. church on Sunday.

A new boy baby arrived Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Livingston.

Martha Hull and Cecilia Baker will leave Monday morning for Carlisle where they will attend the summer school of religious education conducted by the Board of Sunday Schools of the M. E. church at Dickinson College. These girls are members of the Woodland M. E. Sunday school and attended the Dickinson summer school last year.

The state road is progressing nicely. They are now near the residence of Ray Mulholland with the concrete and expect to have the road finished in fifteen days, weather permitting.

We are wondering if any one in our community has a list of the old soldiers buried in Bradford cemetery. If there is such a list we would be glad to have it published. If not, why could not such a list be secured. We would suggest that the local order of P. O. S. of A. take this matter up. Other towns have such lists, why not we?

John Confer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Confer and Fred Graffius are the guests of relatives in Brookville.

HEARD ALONG THE BANKS OF THE MOSHANNON

A recently organized coal company, not having planned to stay longer

of Morrisdale, is interested, has purchased 1,200 acres of lower vein coal land from Pease, Peacock & Kerr, lying between Hawk Run and Morrisdale. The tract will be reached by a slope, the opening to be at Hawk Run. The capacity of the mine is expected to be 1,500 tons daily. Though the land is much of a swamp, latest inventions will be used to drain the same. The development of the tract will begin in the near future, which will afford employment for a large number of men.

The large tract of coal land of Pease, Peacock & Kerr which has been burning underground at Hawk Run for many years past, is now, following the use of steam shovels and other means, nearly extinguished. Trenches have been made cutting off the burning land from the other, thereby saving many tons of coal. The shovels and a big force of men were sent here by the owners during the winter months. At times the fire, burning so furiously and covering such a large portion of the land, made the earth so hot that persons could feel the heat through heavy winter footwear and at some sections where the earth had caved in were holes similar to furnaces and a few minutes after a large piece of wet wood had been placed in it would fall apart in a burst of flame.

John Hall and Mrs. Wayne Hall and baby, of Clearfield visited relatives in Altoona during the week-end.

A new branch store of the Laundry-Terby Company will shortly be opened at Spangler, making the seventh distributing point of this large wholesale concern. It is expected the new store will be in operation September 1st. The stores are located at Philipsburg, Clearfield, Bellefonte, Punksutawney, DuBois and Indiana.

Miss Carrie Hess, of Philipsburg, has returned from her trip to the Bermuda Islands. She reports having had a delightful time and regrets at Paul Kopetan, of Hawk Run, sustained severe injuries to the head and right leg when a runaway car at the No. 3 shaft of the Morrisdale Coal Company plunged into a number of cars and broke them to pieces. Flying remnants of the wreck caused Mr. Kopetan's injuries.

St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, this morning at 9 o'clock was the scene of another beautiful nuptial event, the contracting parties on this occasion being Miss Sarah Vallalla, of Morrisdale, and Alphonse Allard, of Hawk Run. Rev. Father E. J. Fischer, the rector, performed the ceremony. Miss Catherine Lums, of Morrisdale, was bridesmaid and William Salladay, brother of the groom was best man. The bride wore a dress of satin and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses. The ceremony was attended by a large number of guests. A wedding dinner was tendered at the groom's home, at which nearly a hundred and fifty invited guests were present. Both are popular and highly esteemed. They will reside at Hawk Run.

Miss A. S. Brown of Ocala, Fla. entertained about twenty-four guests at the hotel Philips Thursday evening in honor of Dr. H. G. Campbell and daughter, Misses Margaret and Marion of Newark, who are visiting at the Brown home. The dinner served at six o'clock was an epaulé of lamb.

Madam Wilcox and her husband Philip Wilcox of Philadelphia have just returned from Providence R. I. where they were in attendance at the wedding of the former's sister, Miss Mollie Muntow, as maid of honor and best man. This event was a big social affair in that the largest wedding ever known took place in that city. Six hundred guests

WELL KNOWN YOUNG COUPLE WED

St. Agnes Catholic church, Morrisdale, was the scene of one of the prettiest weddings this season when Miss Mary O'Neill daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Neill, of Morrisdale, became the bride of Victor L. Kelly, youngest son of H. P. Kelly, of Bellefonte, on Wednesday morning, June 27th, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. E. J. Fischer performed the ceremony.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white chiffon crepe. The skirt was made of tiny ruffles trimmed with narrow French lace and the waist was a tight bodice with a square French lace collar. Her hat, which was of pale effect, was made of tiny lace ruffles with small white roses around the crown. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Mae Caine, of Pittsburgh, who was a school chum of the bride at Seton Hill Academy, Greensburg, was the only attendant. She wore a becoming frock of turquoise blue attended. A dinner dance, to which 100 couples were invited, took place following the ceremony at the Elgin Hotel, Williams Hall at Park Casino, Twelve colored men and one white chief were served the tables. The couple is now on an extended wedding trip to the Thousand Islands and numerous other places of interest.

crepe satin. The skirt was circular, wide at the sides, with a fitted bodice enhanced by a pale pink satin ash, the only trimming. Her hat was a picture model of cream-colored straw with pink roses on the brim. She also carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Dolores and Josephine O'Neill, of Altoona and Miss Margaret Howe, of Morrisdale, nieces of the bride, were flower girls, and wore dainty frocks of white organdie and carried baskets of red roses. James O'Neill, brother of the bride, was best man for Mr. Kelly.

This wedding united the lives of two very splendid young people, and the bride, an attractive and charming young lady, who enjoys the esteem of a wide circle of friends and the groom, energetic and likewise highly regarded, since upon their wedding united with the heartiest well wishes of an unusually wide circle of friends. Mr. Kelly is a graduate of St. Francis College, Preparatory Department, Loyola, and also attended West Chester Military Academy, West Chester, Pa. At present he is a coal operator, being associated with the Kelly Brothers of Snow Sho.

A CAR WORTH ITS NAME

4-wheel BRAKES

Again—Rickenbacker Engineering Leads, and Shows the Way

First assumed that leadership, by creating a motor free from any period of vibration—the most destructive force in an automobile.

The Rickenbacker "Tandem Flywheel" accomplished this.

Then the "Air Cleaner"—which doubles the life and renders your motor free from excessive carbon deposits.

And now—we announce the greatest improvement made in an automobile since the advent of the self-starter—13 years ago.

Here is a feature that is super-efficient; for not only do the four wheel brakes increase your tire mileage and eliminate all tendency to skid, but they offer the only practical solution of the twin problems of congested traffic and public safety.

With the same effort, you stop in about half the distance—with half the strain on tires, brake linings and other parts that you do in the same car equipped with 2-wheel brakes.

Or, with much less effort, your car stops in the same distance with still less strain on tires and axles.

Verily: "A demonstration is a revelation!"

For, if we told you here all the advantages of this great engineering achievement your credulity would be unequal to the test.

One cannot believe until he himself has experienced the sensation of riding in—and driving—a Rickenbacker with 4-wheel brakes.

So convinced are we of the superiority of four over two, we predict that one year from today 4-wheel brakes will be universal.

Remember this when rival salesmen try to argue against 4-wheel brakes—for of course they must, not having them, yet.

The superiority is so marked and so manifest, there is just no ground left for argument.

As we have stated, this is, and will be, regarded as the greatest single improvement in an automobile since the advent of that other epoch-making feature—the self-starter.

Here's a self-stopper—if you will!

Amazing in performance.

Does not affect steering unless it be to give you better control of the car when turning.

Actually stops car on wet asphalt quicker than 2-wheel brakes do on dry, with no skidding!

There's a feeling of security when driving on a wet or slippery surface that is indescribable and most reassuring.

Equalized as no other braking system has ever been equalized—to compensate, not only for difference in traction of each wheel, but for difference in wear of shoes and drums.

Drums are finely machined to ensure absolute uniformity and smoothness of operation. Another example of Rickenbacker thoroughness and care.

Think of this greatly increased factor of safety—100 per cent more than you have been accustomed to.

Here is a mighty long step towards the solution of the traffic problem.

You can stop in "a car length" at any legal speed—or glide to a velvet pause, in half the distance you are used to.

No, NOT hydraulic—pneumatic—or electric. Mechanical—positive—simple—sure—a system any child can understand.

4-wheel brakes wear longer because the coefficient of friction per square inch of braking surface is less than half of what it is in two.

Tires wear longer for the same reason. Brake linings, too.

Silent, and uniformly efficient at all times and under all conditions—for all four brakes are of the internal, expanding type—dust-proof clean, slightly.

By the way—Rickenbacker brake drums are painted a brilliant red, so that you will easily recognize this feature in a Rickenbacker Six. All four brakes alike—interchangeable! That's another wonderful advantage.

Of course you recall that the Rickenbacker was the first high-class car that had steel disc wheels as standard. That bit of courage and enterprise started the wood wheel on the road to obsolescence.

And now—this latest Rickenbacker invention will relegate to the limbo of the forgotten, the old style of brake.

Six equalizers—one in each wheel and one between each pair of brakes to front and rear.

From now on, in the Rickenbacker Six, you will enjoy motoring as you never did before.

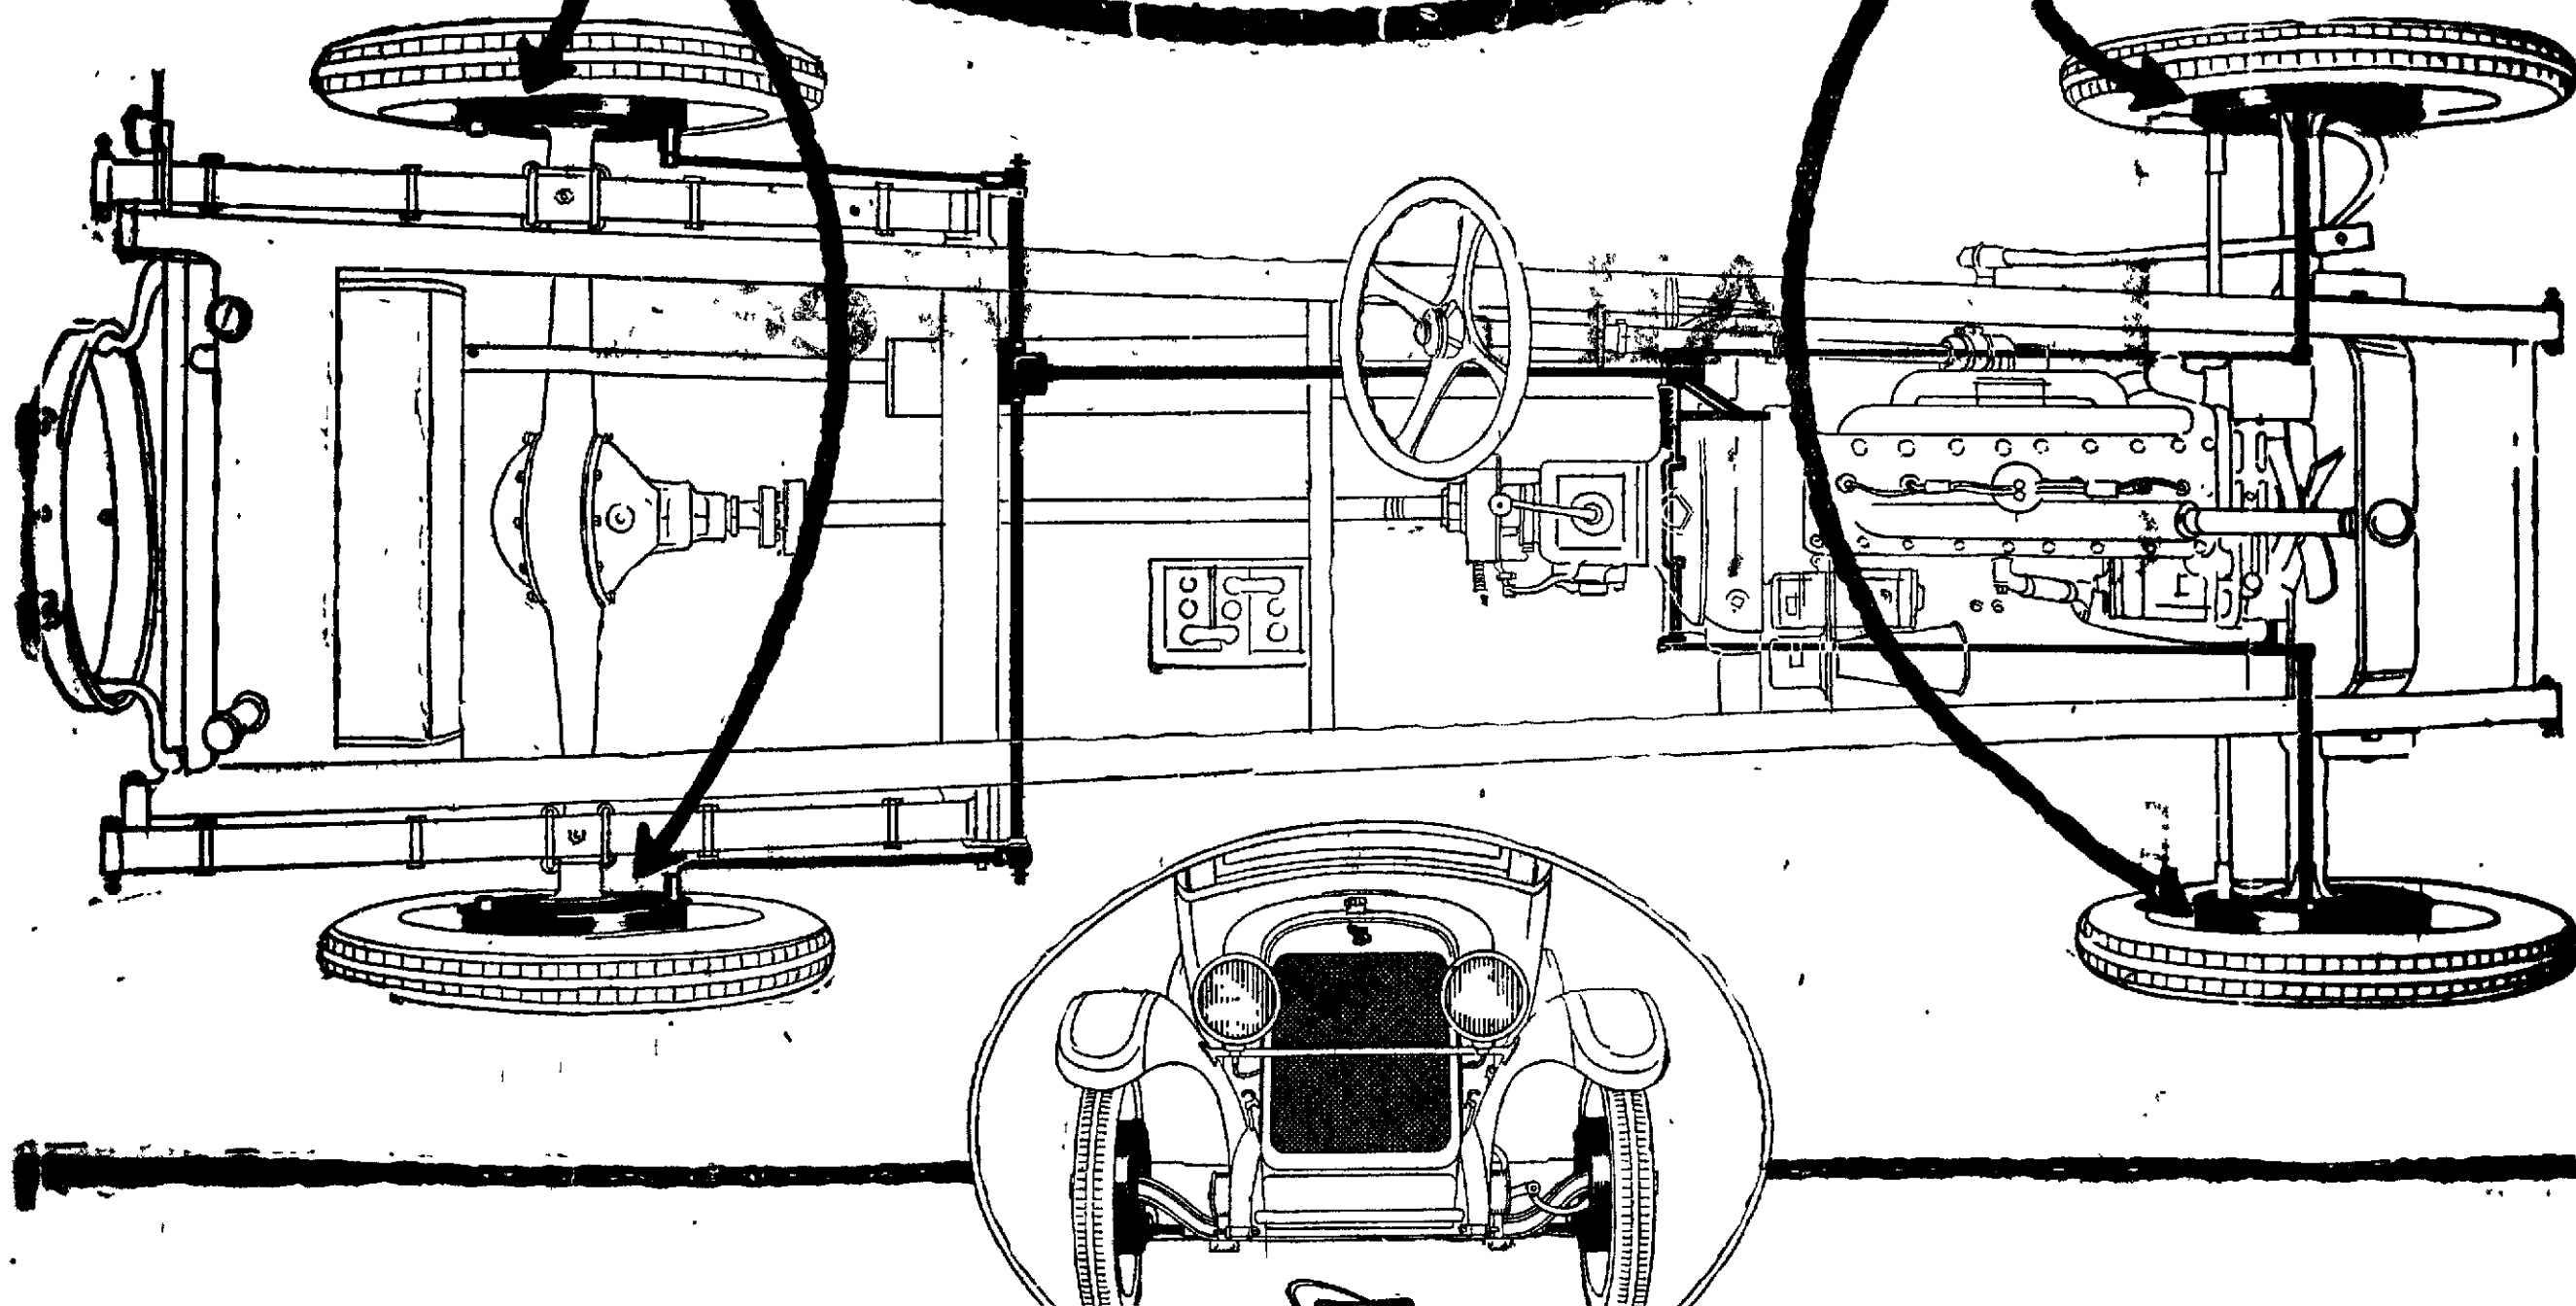

Phone, or come in and arrange for your demonstration.

Don't delay. First come must be first shown—and, of course, every progressive motorist in town will want a ride in this sensational Rickenbacker Six—with 4-wheel brakes.

REFUSED JURY TRIAL

IN DIVORCE SUIT

Judge Bell in an opinion handed down yesterday refused a jury trial in the divorce suit of Burt E. Knarr vs. Mary Irene Knarr. When the suit was filed, the defendant made application for a trial by jury. In refusing the application Judge Bell says: "Both parties are prominent in their community and public morals would not be benefited by the publicity always attendant upon such trials." The case will be heard by a master, as is the general procedure in divorce suits.

Miss Gertrude Rumberger and Mrs. W. E. Brown attended a party at the home of Miss Pidgeon at Houtzdale Thursday.
